

Forum Features

Forum Snare Drum

The newly designed 6½" x 14" Forum snare drum features a chrome plated smooth steel shell with eight lugs for accurate tuning and a solid precision snare strainer. Steel has long been a popular choice for professionals seeking strong snare attack with added tone and projection.

Bass Drum Pedal

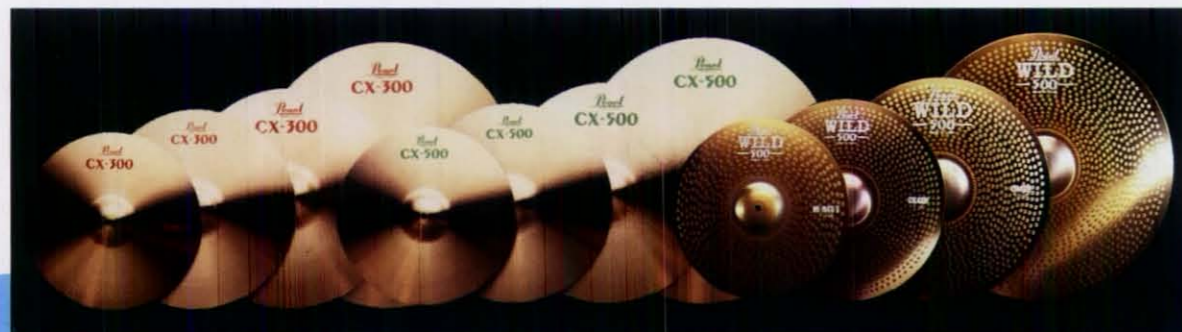

The new Forum bass drum pedal features a wide non-slip footboard, fast precise belt drive action and full tension adjustability. The Forum pedal is perfect for the beginning drummer wanting to build perfect bass drum technique.

Bass Drum Spur

The fully telescopic bass drum spurs provided on the Forum offer easy height adjustability and an interchangeable rubber/spike tip. To change from non-marking rubber tipped end to the gripping spike tip, or vice versa, twist the threaded rubber foot up or down and lock in place.

Forum Accessories

CX-300 Cymbals

CX-500 Cymbals

Wild 500 Cymbals

Pearl's complete cymbal line is the perfect compliment to the Forum Series drumset. The CX-300 Series cymbals offer traditional styling, smooth, bright tone and are available in sizes for various crashes, ride and hi-hat applications. Pearl's CX-500 Series cymbals also offer traditional styling, brilliant tone and projection and are available in various sizes of rides, crashes and offer china types, a splash and hi-hat styles. Pearl's wild 500 Series cymbals feature hammered styling and offer a brash sound very popular in rock and metal music. Wild 500 cymbals are also available in various sizes of crashes, rides, china types, and a hi-hat model.

D-730 Throne

The sturdy D-730 drummer's throne offers a thick padded seat, full height adjustability.

Pearl

The best reason to play drums.

The new

Forum Series

Introducing the finest entry level drum set in the world, the new Forum Series from Pearl. The beginning drummer of today expects a quality instrument, at an affordable entry level price, from a manufacturer they can depend on. Pearl's new Forum Series offers just that. Years of engineering experience and proven design technology have been utilized to produce a drum set of unmatched value in this price category. Forum Series drum sets exhibit several features that characterize its exceptional superiority.

Pearl's Forum Series shells are manufactured of multiple mahogany and bass wood plys. This particular wood combination produces warmth, depth, projection, and attack as found in no other drums in this price range. Forum Series shells are covered with the same polymer sheeting material as our Professional Series Performance Custom drums. Available in either high gloss black or white, these road proven exterior finishes look great after years of play.

The Forum Series offers the timeless look of classic double lugs. These lugs have been specifically designed for this series to provide easy, precise, accurate tuning. As with all Pearl drumsets, the Forum Series features multi-positionable tom holders capable of 360 degrees horizontal rotation within the bass drum mount and over 170 degrees rotation vertically for endless set up possibilities.

All hardware, including tom arms, are equipped with memory stop locks. This allows the player the same adjustment preferences set up after set up. The Forum Series professionally styled 650 hardware features a chain drive fully adjustable hi hat, a sturdy straight cymbal stand, and a fully adjustable snare stand, all with oversized non-marking rubber feet. The Forum Series. Feature packed, design proven, and fully warranted... the beginner never had it so good.

