The All New Forum Series From Pearl

New colors, new hardware, new bass drum spurs, a new pedal and a new steel shell snare drum, welcome to the greatest value in percussion today, the all new Forum Series for 1997. We've taken a drum set that already represents the perfect combination of quality and price, and added upgrade after upgrade to its long list of outstanding features. But features alone are not what separates Forum from the rest of the pack. Forum drums are made of 100% Mahogany using Pearl's patented Heat Compression Shell Molding System. We use this exclusive process for every drum we make, even top of the line Masters Series drums are made this way. This allows Forum to produce a warm full bodied resonant tone, rich with great projection and stunning attack. The type of sound you won't find from other drums in this price range. One listen and you'll hear the difference. For quality, craftsmanship, sound and durability, and above all the best value in percussion today, there is only one choice... The all new Forum Series from Pearl.
